Teachers Prepared

On this page, enter the number of program completers by the subject area in which they were prepared to teach, and by their academic majors. Note that an individual can be counted in more than one academic major and subject area. For example, if an individual is prepared to teach Elementary Education and Mathematics, that individual should be counted in both subject areas. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major or subject area, you may leave the cell blank. Please use the "Other" category sparingly, if there is no similar subject area or academic major listed. In these cases, you should use the text box to describe the subject area(s) and/or the academic major(s) counted in the "Other" category.

If your IHE offers both traditional and alternative programs, be sure to enter the program completers in the appropriate reports. For the traditional report, provide only the program completers in traditional programs within the IHE. For the alternative report, provide only the program completers for the alternative programs within the IHE.

After entering the teachers prepared data, save the page using the floating save box at the bottom of the page.

Teachers Prepared by Subject Area

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by subject area for academic year 2022-23.

For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Subject area" refers to the subject area(s) an individual has been prepared to teach. What are CIP Codes?

No teachers prepared in academic year 2022-23

If your program has no teachers prepared, check the box above and leave the table below blank (or clear responses already entered).

What are CIP codes? The Classification of Instructional Programs (CIP) provides a taxonomic scheme that supports the accurate tracking and reporting of fields of study and program completions activity. CIP was originally developed by the U.S. Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) in 1980, with revisions occurring in 1985, 1990, and 2000 (<https://nces.ed.gov/ipeds/cipcode/Default.aspx?y=55>).

Teachers Prepared by Academic Major

Please provide the number of teachers prepared by academic major for academic year 2022-23. For the purposes of this section, number prepared means the number of program completers. "Academic major" refers to the actual major(s) declared by the program completer. An individual can be counted in more than one academic major. If no individuals were prepared in a particular academic major, please leave that cell blank. (§205\(b\)\(1\)\(H\))

Please note that the list of majors includes several "Teacher Education" majors, as well as several noneducation majors. Please use care in entering your majors to ensure education-specific majors and non-education majors are counted correctly. For example, if an individual majored in Chemistry, that individual should be counted in the "Chemistry" academic major category rather than the "Teacher Education–Chemistry" category.

Report Progress on Last Year's Goal (2022-23)

1. Did your program prepare teachers in mathematics in 2022-23?

If no, leave remaining questions for 2022-23 blank (or clear responses already entered).

- Yes
 No

2. Describe your goal.

The goal for the 2022-2023 year is to increase the enrollment of students in the math content area by 1% with an 80% pass rate for all content exams. The University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff School of Education Educator Preparation Program (EPP) has started Praxis -Prep Bootcamps that cover all areas needed in the Praxis II Content Knowledge. PRAXIS Preparation camps are mandatory for those students who do not have passing scores on the content knowledge exam in their area. All MAT candidates must attend at least twice weekly. The EPP set up individual study plans for Math Education majors teaching on a Provisional License. The study plans will assist MAT candidates with test-taking strategies related to the math content knowledge exam in every tested area offered by the EPP.

3. Did your program meet the goal?

- Yes
 No

4. Description of strategies used to achieve goal, if applicable:

The EPP has also been working with content faculty across the campus to ensure students are being prepared to pass the Praxis Exams from the content side and the EPP. The EPP added the SIMS School virtual simulations that helped students who were not allowed in the buildings to complete field experiences during the COVID-19 period to learn and observe different behaviors of the instructors. Now, EPP students are allowed back into public schools and have excellent experiences. The students visit the same classroom at least three days a week. Students receive help with 240 Tutoring and professional development in Mathematics from the EPP's area partner, the Arkansas River Educational Service Cooperative (ARESC). In addition, the EPP has started Bootcamps, which gives the students excellent exposure to test preparation practices and test preparation materials and manipulatives. Bootcamps are designed and presented by professional experts in the areas needed for their major or tested areas. The EPP Bootcamps are offered two times per semester and two times in the summer. The School of Education Dean, faculty, and teacher education majors travel around Arkansas recruiting Mathematics majors. When on Learning Tours, they are allowed to teach UAPB School History and Background lessons, which sparks the visitors' interest and helps with recruitment. The University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff School of Education Department of Curriculum and Instruction has increased enrollment by two students in Mathematics.

5. Description of steps to improve performance in meeting goal or lessons learned in meeting goal, if applicable:

Continue to meet with the advisor/chair of the department -including mathematics in school partnership governance meetings if applicable.

The table provides information on the performance of the students in your teacher preparation program on each teacher credential assessment used by your state. In cases where a student has taken a given assessment more than once, the highest score on that test is used. In the case of a teacher preparation program with fewer than 10 scores reported on any single initial teacher credential assessment during an academic year, the program shall collect and publish information with respect to an average pass rate and scaled score on each state credential assessment taken over a three-year period. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

The University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff School of Education Educator Preparation Provider (EPP) prepares all candidates to effectively integrate technology into the curriculum to support student learning in the P-12 classroom setting. All candidates in the MAT program are required to take the course Instructional Media and Technology. The course is an introductory survey of the theory and practices of utilizing technology to support instruction. This course is designed to acquaint the teacher education majors with guidelines and develop competencies in the selective evaluation and creation of specific media to facilitate learning. This course ensures that candidates are efficient in integrating technology and demonstrate proficiency in using computers and technology when preparing or enhancing lesson plans and other activities that require technology-based skills for development. The teacher education program requires all teacher education majors to complete an assessment course related to their focus area in which they are to complete an assessment of student learning in the required assignment, "Impact on Student Learning (Teacher Work Sample [TWS]) Project during their Field-Experience placement. The vision is that through this performance assessment, teacher candidates provide credible evidence of their ability to facilitate learning that impacts student progress. In this course, the majors demonstrate proficiency in collecting, analyzing, disaggregating, and using data to evaluate and assess student learning and achievement. Also, all EPP candidates have to demonstrate their understanding of lesson planning and incorporating technology in a manner that can be used to effectively support teaching and learning in an oral presentation mini-lesson assignment, "Teaching with Technology." The task is assigned in the General Methods class for secondary majors and the Science/Elementary Schools class for elementary majors. Additionally, MAT candidates must complete courses in Assessing Classroom Learning and Application of Statistics/Research in Education to prepare them to collect, manage, and analyze data to improve teaching and learning and increase student academic achievement. Further, the students learn to use the principles of universal design, Response to Intervention (RTI), and differentiated instruction for learning in the following courses: Psychological Foundations of Teaching and Learning and Teaching Diverse Learners.

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program.

(§205(a)(1)(G))

Note: This section is preloaded from the prior year's IPRC.

Teacher Training

1. Provide a description of the activities that prepare general education teachers to:

a. Teach students with disabilities effectively

The University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff School of Education Educator Preparation Program Provider (EPP) Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) program has embedded activities that prepare candidates to teach students with disabilities in grades K-12. The program offers two courses, Teaching Diverse Learners and Behavior Management, and an elective course, Characteristics of Individuals with Disabilities. Activities are also incorporated throughout the methodology courses taught in the program. The course Teaching Diverse Learners is a study of the parameters of culture and how they affect human relations and the educational process. This course focuses on diverse populations regarding language, race, gender, ethnicity, socioeconomic status, and exceptionalism. A major outcome of this course is for candidates to demonstrate cultural competence in effectively teaching diverse students in schools. The Behavior Management Graduate Course presents best practices in classroom and behavior management - from organizing time, materials, and classroom space to strategies for managing individual and large-group student behaviors, transitions, lab activities, and other arrangements for classrooms in general and special education. Candidates are presented with activities to assist in managing students with Specific Learning Disabilities, Attention Deficit Disorder, and Emotional Disturbance in inclusive classroom settings. The elective course, Characteristics of Individuals with Disabilities, examines characteristics of students identified as neuro-diverse, having intellectual disabilities and learning disabilities, with applications for other exceptionalities. The content includes state and federal rules and regulations, issues and trends, instructional strategies, school-home partnerships, and formal and informal assessments.

b. Participate as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

In the course, Behavior Management, candidates are required to develop a behavior intervention plan for a student with a disability in an inclusive setting. The activity requires the candidate to collaboratively develop a plan with the assistance of the parent, student, and special education teacher as a member of the IEP team. In their role as the general education teacher, candidates complete an activity that requires them to write the goals for their respective content areas. This provides the opportunity to review the IEP and select accommodations based on the individual needs of the student.

c. Effectively teach students who are limited English proficient.
