ON-CAMPUS LIVING

Most graduate students live off campus, but if you choose to live on campus, the following information may be useful.

On campus housing is available through university operated residence halls. An individual must be admitted to the university before an application for housing can be accepted. The housing application must be returned to the residence life office with a $100 application fee. $75 of the application fee is applied toward the cost of room and board and is refundable under the guidelines stated in the application. Due to high demand for on campus housing, in-coming students are advised to apply early. At this time, there are no dormitories designated specifically for graduate students. UAPB currently has nine dormitories.

Female Dorms: Johnson-Copeland Hall, Stevens-Fischer Hall, and J.B. Johnson Complex, Delta B

Male Dorms: Douglas Hall, Hunt Hall, J.B. Johnson Complex, and Lewis Hall, Delta A

For more information you can contact the Office of Residence Life at (870) 575-8079

Short-term living is available in residence halls prior to the fall semester. A transit rate of $10 per night applies. There is no limit of nights at the $10 rate.
