

HISTORY PROGRAM

Overview

The History Program at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff is housed in the Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences. The History Program offers students a broad range of courses that informs them about the historical background of the contemporary world. Students who major in history learn to understand how the world around them became what it is today.

Objectives

- To provide a broad base of knowledge and understanding in American history, Western Civilization, and non-Western history.
- To develop skills that will enable students to distinguish between facts and opinions, and to think rationally, logically, and critically.
- To provide knowledge and understanding of other disciplines and how they contribute to the work of historians.
- To provide knowledge and understanding of the methods historians use in historical research, including statistics, and develop a high level of skill in writing and the use of computers.
- To provide students with the knowledge and skills to perform successfully in a graduate or professional program or to find gainful employment in the public or private sector.

Courses

We offer a variety of exciting and interesting history courses that explore the world. Our courses examine the African and African American experience and we offer courses that meet the interests and concerns of any student who desires to explore the world of history.

Faculty

The history faculty at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff are committed to your success as one of our students. You will have an academic advisor working with you during your time at UAPB who will help you develop a degree path to ensure your success and timely graduation. You will be ready for life beyond graduation with both career and graduate school preparation.

Preparing for the Future

Students who study history prepare for the future by studying the past. They gain a deeper understanding of the world and gain superior writing skills, research skills, and problem solving abilities.

Campus

UAPB is a small friendly student-focused campus. You can be sure that you will not be one of the crowd here. Your professors will know you by name, which means that you can really develop a relationship and have room to grow as a scholar.

Phi Alpha Theta

We have an active chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the history honor society for those who are academic achievers. This national recognition is an impressive honor that can be noted on employment applications and resumes.

History Club

Our history club is also active. Students in this club benefit from meeting as a group and exploring career opportunities, studying together, discussing what to do after graduation, and preparing for graduate school. The history club is also involved in a variety of campus and community service activities.
